This week I came across an article on the Internet about a Division I football recruit losing his full ride scholarship to Old Dominion University. It wasn't because of an injury or having a poor senior season in high school or grades ... it was all because of what he posted on social media.

According to USA Football, Shedrick "Shed" McCall III, a star running back at L.C. Byrd (Chesterfield, Va.) started a YouTube channel in hopes of beginning a YouTube career. He wanted to talk about funny experiences and things he has been through in life. Unfortunately, McCall was unaware that his use of foul language and actions in these videos would have huge ramifications for him. College scouts don't just look at the player and their abilities on the field, but also how the player, the person, acts off the field; even what they post on social media.

For McCall, it was one YouTube video in particular. He talked about an incident in which he was trespassing. That video went viral. Soon after the video was posted, McCall received a phone call that his offer to play Division I football at Old Dominion—the school he had been committed to for six months—was revoked. All of his hard work to receive a Division I offer was gone, because of a video he posted to YouTube.

As Christians, we too must watch what we post online and remember our influence. Remember what Jesus said was the Greatest Commandment in Matthew 22?

³⁴ Hearing that Jesus had silenced the Sadducees, the Pharisees got together. ³⁵ One of them, an expert in the law, tested him with this question: ³⁶ "Teacher, which is the greatest commandment in the Law?"

³⁷ Jesus replied: "'Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind.'^[d] ³⁸ This is the first and greatest commandment. ³⁹ And the second is like it: 'Love your neighbor as yourself.'^[d] ⁴⁰ All the Law and the Prophets hang on these two commandments."

We must show this same love for God as well as our neighbors in everything we do, including what we post on social media. I remember hearing someone put it like this: if all anyone every knew about you was what you posted on your Facebook page, what kind of person would they think you are?
